Procedure outlined for committee searching for Marvin replacement

Sheila Billerbeck

The selection process was outlined Monday for the campus advisory search committee to assist in finding Eastern President Daniel E. Marvin's successor. Donald Walters, Board of Governors executive director and BOG presidential search committee advisor, profiled the guidelines necessary for the campus advisory search committee candidates.

"This campus committee was set up as an advisory role," he said. "The board is under the sole responsibility of selecting a president."

Walters told Eastern faculty and student leaders that the campus advisory search committee will consist of 17 representatives to serve from spring through fall of 1983.

The campus advisory search committee will consist of:

- an elected chairman from the Faculty Senate.
- six, full-time faculty members of various schools and departments to be elected by Eastern faculty.
- a vice president and a dean elected by members of the Faculty Senate.

- an elected professional administrator from the Council of University Administrators.

- a department chairman elected by Eastern's department chairmen.

- three elected full-time students, who are in good academic standing.

- two full-time non-academic employees elected by the Civil Service Council.

- Eastern's Alumni Association president.

Walters said Student Body President Terry Teele and the Student Senate will each select three students to fill six student nominations to the campus advisory committee.

Eastern students will vote April 20 for the three campus advisory search committee representatives.

Walters said he would like the campus advisory search committee to be formed by May 2.

The first item the campus advisory search committee will face is to review a list of presidential qualifications the BOG presidential search committee has established, Walters said.

"The qualification list will be provided to the campus committee for review," Walters said. "We want to know if they have any improvement suggestions."

Walters said he would like the first meeting of the campus advisory search committee to occur "no later than May 9."

"I want the board committee and the campus committee to agree upon a set of qualifications by May 10," Walters said.

"After June 1, the BOG's presidential search committee will look through the resumes which have been received, and will start eliminating some applications," Walters said.

Walters said after the board committee elimination, the applications will then be sent to the campus committee.

The campus advisory search committee's recommendations will be returned to the BOG's committee. The BOG committee will then narrow down the applications to "around a dozen, I estimate," Walters said.

These candidates will be chosen for personal interviews on July 15, 16 and 17 at the O'Hare Hilton in Chicago, Walters said.

Walters said beginning Aug. 29 presidential candidates will come to Eastern to be interviewed by the campus advisory search committee.

The presidential candidates will be at Eastern for two days and will be interviewed individually, he added.

Walters said he hoped to receive the campus committee's evaluations of the candidates by the end of September.

"The campus committee will provide the board committee with at least five candidates for final selection," Walters said.

The presidential search committee will then take the campus advisory search committee's recommendations and narrow the candidates down to three, he said.

The presidential search committee then present the three candidates to the BOG to be screened for the final selection, Walters said.

Marvin delays action on credit

by Crystal Schrof

Eastern President Daniel E. Marvin said Monday he will not make a decision on the Council on Academic Affairs credit-no credit proposal until he has done further research.

The CAA's credit-no credit proposal will not go into effect unless Marvin approves it by signature or failure to take action before April 17.

The proposal to eliminate Eastern's current pass-fail option and institute a credit-no credit system was approved 7-5 by the CAA Thursday.

If the proposal receives Marvin's approval, students who receive a grade of A, B or C in a course they take under the proposal would receive hourly credit for the course and CR (credit) on their transcripts.

Students who receive a D or F in a course will receive no hourly credit and a NO CR (no credit) on their transcripts.

Marvin said, "In my opinion, I certainly question the logic of the proposal."

However, Marvin said he will not decide whether to approve the credit-no credit proposal before he further discusses it with CAA Chairman David Buchanan and Stanley Rives, provost and vice president for academic affairs.

Marvin said he has some "problem with the consistency and logic of the proposal."

Marvin said a problem in the proposal's logic "seems to occur" if two students—one using the credit-no credit option, the other taking the course for grade—took the same course and one received credit for a D and the other did not.

However, Marvin said the rationale behind the credit-no credit proposal is to make students work harder in classes.

He added that a credit-no credit policy at Eastern could allow classes taken under the credit-no credit system, in which students receive A's, B's or C's, to be transferred.

Marvin said a course graded as D will not transfer to other universities.

City police wait to set bar policy

by Stacey Flanagan

If an ordinance is adopted to prevent anyone under the age of 21 from entering Charleston bars, police enforcement would depend on how bar owners would enforce the ordinance, Charleston Police Chief Maurice Johnson said.

Johnson said police are waiting to see whether or not the entrance age is raised before developing an enforcement policy.

However, Johnson said if the age is raised, Charleston police would not raid bars "unless it's out of hand or we're getting complaints."

"We don't like the hassle and we don't like to create the problems for the bars or the problems for the kids either," he said.

"But if it's getting out of hand, we're going to raid them," he added.

Under current policy, if someone under 21 is caught drinking in a bar, both he and the bar's owner could be arrested.

However, Johnson said the department's policy of conducting periodic checks and raids on bars has not been effective in stopping underage drinking.

Currently, spot checks are not being conducted, he said.

Johnson said police also have difficulty enforcing the drinking age because bar owners are inconsistent with carding policies.

Flooding displaces thousands

The yellow waters of the Pearl River topped sandbag levees Monday and flowed 15 feet deep through a suburb of New Orleans, but the worst appeared over in the historic Dixie floods that have displaced more than 52,000 people and left $625 million in damage.

Elsewhere the mighty Mississippi River surged up to 10 feet above flood stage in Missouri, near St. Louis, forcing scores of families to evacuate and washing snakes and rats into some homes.

The Pearl reached a record level in Slidell, La., 30 miles northeast of New Orleans, one of the cities worst affected by the flooding that began last week with as much as 20 inches of rain in parts of the Deep South.

Assassination suspect arrested

LISBON, Portugal—Police on Monday arrested a 26-year-old man in connection with the assassination of the PLO's European coordinator, and hunted for a taxi driver who fled from a police patrol after the murder.

Acting Internal Administration Minister Roberto Carneiro declined to say whether the man arrested Monday was suspected of shooting Issam Sartawi in a crowded hotel lobby in Albufeira, 120 miles from here.

Mayoral candidates still rallying

CHICAGO (AP)—Harold Washington stumped at a breakneck pace Monday to shore up support among liberals, while opponent Bernard Epton coasted to the finish line in the city's most bitter mayoral contest in decades.

Washington, a two-term congressman who hopes to be elected Chicago's first black mayor on Tuesday, returned Monday to the North Side lakefront area, where he rallied with hundreds of white liberal supporters over the weekend.

"I don't like the word battleground, but this is the focus," Washington said Monday during one of about 10 stops in a hectic campaign day.

Washington also extended an invitation to Mayor Jane M. Byrne, as well as to Democratic leaders who defected to support Epton, to join him in a unity ceremony after the election. But, he warned them they would be working with an "aggressive, progressive mayor."

Meanwhile, Epton, a millionaire lawyer hoping to become the city's first Republican mayor in more than 50 years, huddled with aides and scheduled a final radio appeal and only three public appearances, two of them with volunteers.

Panel submits revised MX plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—After struggling for months to find a politically acceptable basing system for the MX missile, a special commission recommended to President Reagan on Monday a plan virtually identical to one already discarded by Congress.

Playing down Reagan's earlier warnings about U.S. missiles being vulnerable to Soviet attack, the panel unanimously proposed building 100 MX weapons, each armed with 10 nuclear warheads, and putting them in launch silos now holding Minuteman missiles in Wyoming and Nebraska.

Accompanying that warmed-over proposal was the commission's one new idea: developing a smaller, single-warhead missile for deployment in the early 1990s. The group said that could be a cornerstone for a new approach to arms control.

During a brief meeting, Reagan formally received the panel's recommendations but withheld his endorsement. "Some of my best friends are MX missiles," he joked.

Aides said Reagan likely will embrace the recommendations next week.

ISSC awards could be cut

Douglas Backstrom

More than 25,000 Illinois State Scholarship Commission grants could be eliminated if Gov. Jim Thompson's fiscal year 1984 budget is approved.

"Without additional state revenue many needy college students at Illinois colleges, both public and private would suffer," ISSC Executive Director Gary Matejka said.

The ISSC's monetary award program helps pay tuition and fee costs for Illinois residents attending Illinois colleges and universities.

The ISSC was allocated $96.9 million from the Illinois Board of Higher Education's share of Thompson's budget.

This figure shows an increase of $2 million in general revenue funds as compared to fiscal year 1982," Matejka said.

However, Matejka said the $2 million increase will not be enough to meet the needs of college students if the proposed $500 undergraduate tuition hike is approved.

To cover this proposed $500 tuition increase for financially needy students and announce awards throughout the award year, an additional $14 million would be needed," he said.

The bottom line is that with the proposed public universities' tuition increase, the $96.9 million figure falls in nearly a $10 million cut from this year's operating level," Matejka said.

Matejka said announcements to students who receive awards could be delayed until July if Thompson's budget is approved.

He noted that most award cuts will be made at the community college level, where he estimated that 100 grants would be eliminated.

Although many college students would be hit by the proposed budget, community college students would be hit the hardest," he said.

John Flynn, Eastern's assistant director of financial aids, said most cuts would come from community college allocations because the colleges are funded on a per-credit-hour basis by the IBHE.

They can't raise their tuition and fees because of the state budget," Flynn said.

Flynn said there is not much students or the Office of Financial Aids can do about the possible grant cuts.

AA to pick delegates

Faculty representatives for the Council on Academic Affairs will be chosen Tuesday and Wednesday through balloting in a run-off election supervised by the Faculty Senate.

Balloting for the election will be conducted between 9:30 a.m. and noon Tuesday in College Hall room 231J, Richard Goodrick, Faculty Senate vice chairman said Monday.

Regular election balloting is slated for 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Wednesday in the Union lobby. All full-time faculty members are eligible to vote in the election, Goodrick added.

Faculty members will be competing for the positions, which are all at-large posts on the council.

Six nominees include Alan Aulabaugh, Robert Johnson, John Faust, Richard Funk, Marilyn Oglesby and Sue Stoner, Goodrick said.

Mayor, bar owners think alternatives to raising entry age will help issue

by Susan McCann

Several Charleston bar owners and Mayor Clancy Pfeiffer said recently they believe alternatives to raising the bar-entry minimum to 21 will help stop underage persons from frequenting local bars.

Pfeiffer said Sunday that proposals brought to him by local bar owners constitute a "good step" toward curbing underage bar entry, but added that the proposals will only work as long as the owners follow their own suggestions.

"The next step is up to the bar owners. If they conform to the proposals, they won't be asked for something more," he said.

"I asked the bar owners to give me some reasons why I shouldn't raise the age and they gave them to me," Pfeiffer added.

Bar owners met with Pfeiffer Saturday and outlined steps they would take to help reduce local bars' poor public image by ensuring compliance with the city's 19-year-old entry minimum.

The owners said they would discontinue their drink specials and advertisements, request age identification for entry and patrol the bar for underage drinking.

Mike Knoop, owner of the Uptowner and Cellar, said Monday, "It's up to us to police ourselves," adding that he may have to hire another person to help enforce the age requirement.

"It's a burden any time you have to hire someone else," Knoop said, but he stressed that the burden would "obviously" be worth shouldering.

Knoop said he believed the set of proposals would help eliminate the problem of persons under 19 entering Charleston bars. "If it doesn't, I believe that Clancy Pfeiffer, as liquor commissioner, will change the age for admittance to 21," he added.

Roc's owner John Ward said Sunday he also thought the entry age may be raised to 21 if implementing the proposals does not alleviate the problem of local bars having an "image problem" in the community.

E.L. Kracker's manager Jim Severson also said Monday the proposals may help alleviate problems with underage patrons entering bars.

One owner, Mike Saathoff of Mike's Place, refused to go along with the proposal to eliminate drink specials. He said the move was a violation of his right to determine how to run his business.

Instead, Saathoff instituted a policy of allowing only persons at least 21 years of age to enter his establishment.

Ward, Severson and Knoop said their establishments would card patrons at the door to verify that they meet the 19-year-old age minimum.

Although the Charleston Holiday Inn does not card at the door, Innkeeper Letty Cobb said Monday the inn would maintain its current policy of carding persons for both entry and drinking ages at the tables.

Dean Franz, owner of Sporty's, refused comment on the proposals or how he would implement them Monday.

Are you mad as hell? Don't take it anymore!

Travel to Springfield, protest tuition hikes

Remember when Peter Finch yelled, "I'm mad as hell and I'm not going to take it anymore!" in the movie Network?

Are you mad as hell? Are you going to take a $500 tuition increase lying down or are you going to join other Illinois students in lobbying for tax hikes that will keep tuition increases to a minimum?

April 19 is Lobby Day in Springfield. College students from all over the state have an opportunity to rally together to protest the outlandish tuition hikes that are threatening to halt our college careers.

Lobby day is your chance to meet your state legislators face to face and let them know how much you oppose tuition hikes and support the tax hike proposal outlined by Governor Jim Thompson.

In the past, it has been easy for our state legislators to ignore the interests of college students because we usually did not speak up for ourselves and lobby like other groups. We just accepted their decisions without protest.

But it will not be easy for those same legislators to ignore hundreds of students on their doorsteps April 19. They will be forced to listen to our opinions and keep our interests in mind, when voting on issues that concern students, because we will be an active constituent lobby group.

One voice, your voice, can make a difference. Multiply that one voice 100 times and the difference it will make might just keep all of us in college.

Eastern's Student Senate is asking that 20 people, faculty or students, attend Lobby Day to represent the opinions of all of us in Charleston.

But why only 20 people? Why not 50 or 100? We should keep in mind that old saying about "safety in numbers" and send more people to lobby in Springfield. By sending more people we will have safety from numbers—higher numbers—on next fall's tuition bill.

To encourage more people to lobby in Springfield, the Student Senate should organize a major sign-up and publicity campaign as well as aid in transportation arrangements.

But the Student Senate can only do so much. It is up to each student to ensure the success of Lobby Day. Before you find yourself too poor to come back to school, make your voice heard.

If you're mad, travel to Springfield and let your legislators know you're "not going to take it anymore."

Your turn

What about students?

Editor:

I am putting aside my homework tonight to write about something that has been bothering me since I transferred to Eastern last fall; the plight of the Eastern student.

My contention is that the Charleston community, which prospers from the existence of a college, caters very little to the students who attend Eastern.

Most of the shops that we college students can afford to patronize are either downtown or next to the grocery stores, located as far away from campus as they can get and still be in the city limits.

On a clear night, if you stand on the island in front of Old Main, you may see the illumination of their signs, if you squint or use binoculars. So, how do we get to these businesses?

Those of us fortunate enough to have cars drive, but the majority of students walk. Why? Because being the spoiled generation we are, we still need an occasional toothbrush, some shampoo or a little deodorant.

Is it too much to ask for at least a few buses to provide us transportation to spend our money at local businesses or allow us to live off campus without becoming cross country milers? I'm sure most students would mind their manners on the bus and not stick bubble gum under the seats. We would actually behave like the adults that this community often forgets we are.

I can understand why referendums are circulated, by threatened local businesses, to block the influx of outside franchises. They don't want to share the profits made off us. At least the business chains know where to set up shop, just look around.

The reason I finally wrote this letter is because our mayor placed the proverbial last straw on the back of us camels

(the Eastern students who carry this community) when he proposed that no student under the age of 21 be allowed to enter a bar. Soon, if the mayor has his way, socializing, dancing and playing pool will put you in the pokey if you are doing it in a bar and you are under 21.

This is just another chapter in the ongoing saga of "The Plight of the Eastern Student."

Just one more comment to the Mayor and Chamber of Commerce; I suggest you concentrate on taking care of your college community or you may not have any students left to take care of you.

Debbi Wolff

Students not problem

Editor:

Once again it is that time of year. The washed-up controversy over entry into the local bars seems to be erupting again.

The issue of underage minors entering the bars pops up time and time again. Underage drinking seems to pertain to those under the age of 18. Understanding that a large majority of students at Eastern are 18 years old or older, maybe the problem lies in the hands of local residents and their children.

Recent articles, however, have shown sources strongly implying that Eastern students were causing the problems around town. Maybe local parents should keep better tabs on their children's activities.

As for vandalism, upping the entry age to 21 in local bars will not guarantee a decrease in vandalism. Those persons wishing to drink will obtain alcohol no matter what the age may be. Attributing all activities of vandalism to the use of alcohol is an ill, poorly documented argument.

As for Eastern students buying liquor and cruising the county roads, tearing up society, think again. Spare the ridiculousness of the idea.

Seeing that the legal age to enter bars is only an arbitrary limitation placed upon persons, I hope the local beer monopolists, university bureaucrats, and the city council will seriously consider the issue. Maybe the "townie" versus "EIU" controversy can be put to rest.

Minority coverage slow

Editor:

We, the concerned students of Eastern, would appreciate more recognition in due time.

We would have liked to have seen either an article or a picture of the winner of the Miss Black EIU pageant. We understand that an article may appear in a later edition of The Daily Eastern News, but the pageant was held April 9.

In the future we are looking forward to your promptness in printing articles on minority functions.

Poise, talent and speaking ability were three of the talents senior Almetris Snulligan displayed Saturday night to win the eighth annual Miss Black EIU pageant, sponsored by the Black Student Union.

"When they called my name, I was thrilled," Snulligan said. "But I never took it for granted that I would win. My major concern throughout practices was to give all that I could."

Along with receiving the Miss Black EIU crown, Snulligan was awarded $100 and a trophy, Sherita Banks, pageant coordinator, said.

Also at the pageant, Freshman Leona Chew was named first runner-up and junior Lajoyce Hunter took the second runner-up honors.

Snulligan added that as Miss Black EIU she would "try to portray a positive image" to all her fellow students.

Faculty Senate to pick chairman

Susan McCann

The Faculty Senate Tuesday will elect a chairman for the campus advisory committee of the Board of Governors presidential search committee and will organize elections for faculty representatives on the committee.

Faculty Senate Chairman Jeffrey Lynch said the senate will elect one of its members to chair the screening committee, which will be comprised of 17 representatives from various divisions of the university.

Because selection of screening committee members must be completed by May 2, the senate will discuss organization of the elections to determine faculty representation on the committee.

Six faculty members will be included on the committee, with three to be chosen from the College of Arts and Sciences and three others to represent faculty from other schools and including Booth Library and counseling, Lynch said.

"Faculty will have to seek a position on the committee," Lynch said, adding that interested persons must submit a nomination form with faculty signatures before their names will be placed on the ballot.

In other business, Stanley Rives, Provost and Vice President for Academic Affairs, will discuss the senate's recent recommendations for changes in Eastern's continuing education and internship programs.

The senate's proposals were prompted by a report from the Task Force on Cooperative Education and Internships, which examined these programs at Eastern last fall.

The Faculty Senate will meet at 2:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Union Martinsville room.

Students submit petitions for government elections

by Carl Pugliese

Thirty-six students have filed petitions to run for 46 open seats in the April 20 student government elections.

Seven students are running for four executive student senate offices.

Three students are running for student body president.

Sophomore Gail Redeker is also the only candidate running for the financial vice president position.

Senior Bob Erio and junior Phil Montgomery are both candidates for the BOG representative opening.

In the at-large district there are 10 students running for six full-year positions and two half-year spots.

Nine students are running for seven senate spots in the off-campus district. Of the seven seats available, five are full-year spots and two are half-year seats.

The students running for off-campus seats are sophomore Michael Ander-

Five students are running for four full-year residence hall seats.

The Off-Campus Student Housing Association will have its first election for executive officers and delegates this year. The election will be conducted along with the student senate elections.

Junior Barb Krug is running for OCSHA president. Junior Betsy Hagis is running for OCSHA vice president, and sophomore Vicki Boysen is running for OCSHA secretary.

Seven students are running for the 20 OCSHA delegate positions available.

Some of the students running for student senate seats are also running for OCSHA posts.

Those students include Smiley, Guerra, Hillestad and Knell.

Senate Speaker Glenn Good said the senate constitution allows for students to hold seats in both OCSHA and Student Senate.

Other candidates running for OCSHA positions are junior Amy Hutchinson and sophomore Lisa Price.

Jim Schobert enters race for student body president

by Lola Burnham

Student Senator Jim Schobert has joined the race for Eastern's student body president.

Schobert, a junior who is running independently, announced his candidacy for president last week. He will run against senior John Cole, who is currently financial vice president.

Schobert said that if he is elected, he will focus during his term on "the age-old issue of communication with students."

"I just want to make student government available to students," he said.

Communication between students and student government could be improved in several ways, Schobert said, by continuing to publish the student government newsletter and by attempting to set up a "little forum" on campus radio station WELH and a weekly column in the Daily Eastern News.

In addition, Schobert said he would like to set up a regular meeting with campus leaders, including the presidents of the Residence Hall Association and the Black Student Union, the editor in chief of the Daily Eastern News and others.

Schobert said he would also "try to program our activities so we are working in conjunction with the administration."

Jim Schobert

"I think the Student Senate's job is to give the student's input to administrators. They take student views into consideration," he said.

Schobert, an accounting major from Sparta, has served as a student senator representing the residence hall district for three semesters. He petitioned onto senate in Fall 1981 and was re-elected for a second term in Fall 1982.

During his tenure as a senator, he has served as chairman of the academic affairs and auditing committees.

Faculty award nominations open

by Frank G. Garvin

Administrators, alumni, faculty, and students may submit nominations for Eastern's distinguished faculty awards, a faculty member said Monday.

Awards committee chairman and physics instructor Scott Smith said faculty members are nominated on the basis of superior teaching, knowledge development in their field and service to the community's welfare.

However, the faculty member does not have to meet all three of these requirements, he added.

"The nominee may be chosen on service and teaching alone, or development and teaching, but not merely on development and service," Smith said.

"He or she must be a good teacher, but will not have to meet all three of the listed requirements. After all, the faculty member's primary function at Eastern is teaching," he noted.

Smith said a seven-member selection committee composed of four faculty members, two students and one alumnus will select the distinguished faculty members.

Recipients will be announced and awards will be distributed during the spring commencement programs.

Smith added that nomination forms should be turned in to his office by April 22.

In addition, the nominator is responsible for completing the nomination form and obtaining the signatures of three students and three faculty members, who will complete supportive data forms on behalf of the nominee.

Thieves hit at Regency

Three student residences in the Regency apartment complex were broken into over spring break.

Charleston Police Chief Maurice Johnson said police are investigating the incidents, which occurred the weekend of March 26.

Two apparently related break-ins occurred at about 11 p.m. March 27, he said.

Freshman Steve Golding, of Lancaster 13, said a stereo valued at approximately $1,000 was taken from his apartment.

Also, sophomore Tony May, of Lancaster 14, said that several cases of jewelry worth $70 and two neckties were taken from his apartment.

Johnson said a third burglary occurred March 25.

Junior Shernita Banks, a resident of Norwich 11, said a clock radio with an estimated value of $50 was stolen from her apartment.

Contest to help charity group

The chance to win a contest just for being nice doesn't come along every day. An Eastern student, however, will have the opportunity this week.

The Mr. and Mrs. EIU Nice Guy and Girl Contest will be conducted this week to raise funds for the Coles County Coalition Against Domestic Violence.

Bryan Dillard, assistant projects coordinator for Eastern's business fraternity Delta Sigma Pi, said this is the second year the fraternity has sponsored the contest.

The contest winner will be determined by the person who gets the most friendly votes, he said.

The top three vote-getters will receive $30 and a plaque each. The plaques are donated by local businesses, Dillard said.

The contest will be held from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. this week in the Union Walkway lounge.

Ivarie to advise another school

Frank Garvin

Eastern's School of Business dean is currently aiding another business school in its accreditation process as a friendly critic."

Ted Ivarie, dean of Eastern's school of business, is acting as a visiting scholar at Eastern Montana College.

Ivarie said he received a phone call from the college and was asked if he wanted to apply for the position.

"It (the job) was open for one quarter. Eastern Montana is on the quarter system. But I said I couldn't possibly be away from Eastern for 12 weeks. So I got a deal worked out where I went out there from March 28 to April 8 and will go out there again from July 18 to July 29," he said.

Ivarie said his primary purpose has been as a friendly critic and an aid to the school of business and economics in meeting accreditation standards.

Identifying problems, evaluating the present program, giving advice on a study report preparation and being available to meet with faculty members comprises his duties, Ivarie said.

He added that he believed the visiting scholar program is beneficial to schools.

"A school needs an outside critic, a person who comes in and gives friendly criticism and advice."

Newspaper wins awards

by Jan Genis

The Daily Eastern News took second place for general excellence and front page layout in addition to several other awards at the Illinois College Press Association convention at Eastern Friday and Saturday.

Other awards presented to the News include third place for best news story, Sharon Bray and Julie Jackson; third place for column writing, Otis Benefor; and first and second place for sports writing, John Humenik.

Additional awards include first and third place for editorials, Sue McCann and Steve Binder respectively; first and second place for cartooning, Tim Frederick; first and third place for photography, Sam Paisley; two first place awards in photography, Tom Roberts, and an addition photography award to Robin Scholtz.

The advertising staff also received two awards.

In addition to the awards presentation, the eight state colleges' representatives attending the convention participated in several journalism seminars.

David Reed, ICPA Board of Directors member, added that several of the seminars were conducted by professional journalist such as Roger Simon, Chicago Sun-Times columnist, Tom Engelhardt, St. Louis Post-Dispatch cartoonist and Mike Cordts, Sun-Times general and special assignment reporter.

Reed added the University of Illinois will host the convention next year.

COTE to review college future

Sheila Billerbeck

The future of higher education will be discussed Tuesday by the Council on Teacher Education.

Ron Leathers, assistant to the dean of the School of Education, said he will discuss "what the future will project for education."

Leathers said the COTE will review a planning statement concerning Eastern's School of Education through the next five years.

Leather's planning statement includes suggestions on program development and improvement and future plans for education.

COTE Chairperson Mary Lou Hubbard said Leathers was assigned to the planning project after the Illinois Board of Higher Education sent a state-wide survey concerning the standards of university teaching programs to Eastern.

In other business, Hubbard said the COTE will discuss a student appeals process. The student is asking the COTE to waive his grade point average because it is not acceptable to get into the teaching program.

The COTE will meet at 2 p.m. Tuesday in the Union addition Arcola room.

Women netters fall to NIU

Ed Forst

Eastern's women's tennis team dropped its second straight match this Monday, falling 6-3 to Northern Illinois at Weller Courts.

"We are improving each match," Eastern coach Chris Perry said. "But because we have so many young players, it will take a while."

"We are becoming more mentally tough with each match," Perry added. "I'm pleased with this because we have been striving to become mentally tough for a long time."

However, Perry said the loss of Kristin Peterson to an ankle injury affected her team's performance Monday.

"We did miss Kristen out there," Perry said. "I had to switch the doubles around because of the injury to Kristin."

Individually, Nancy Abney struggled against Northern Illinois' Torrey Lott and eventually won 6-3, 0-6, 6-4 to register one of the Panthers' victories.

"Abney is a hard competitor," Perry said. "She always keeps fighting and today it paid off for her."

Dawn Paulik added another Eastern victory, defeating Northern Illinois' Cathy Jessup 6-4, 6-1.

"Dawn is improving with every match and she played extremely well today," Perry said. "I think Dawn was motivated by the fact that it was her birthday."

In doubles play, both Abney and Paulik, who doubled because of the injury to Peterson, defeated Lott and Mary Ellis.

"Abney and Paulik played very well together," Perry said. "Nancy's game is very aggressive while Paulik doesn't play as aggressive. They make a good doubles team."

Eastern returns to action Friday when the Panthers travel to Macomb to face Western Illinois University.

Women's track places third

CARBONDALE—Gail Stevens captured three titles and Margaret Smith placed in two championships Saturday at the Southern Illinois-Carbondale (70) Invitational.

Stevens (62 1/2 points) marked its showing this season in following the Southern Illinois-Carbondale (70) Invitational, the University of Missouri (84).

Stevens gave the Panthers a big boost in posting a school record 55.45 in winning the 400-meter final. Stevens ran on Eastern's championship 400-meter and 1600-meter relays.

Smith was Eastern's top individual title winner Saturday by registering a school record 4:31.02 in the 1500-meter run and placing first in the 800-meter run (2:13.85).

In addition, Barbro Hines cleared 5-foot-4 to capture the high jump event, and Sharon Farley won the 400-meter intermediate hurdles title with a 1:05.36 clocking.

Eastern now turns its attention toward the University of Illinois Invitational Saturday in Champaign. The meet will feature some of the nation's and state's finest competitors.

Softballers roll past Cougars

by Kathy Leahy

Strong hitting keyed Eastern's softball team to a double-header sweep of Southern Illinois-Edwardsville Monday in the Panthers' home opener at Lantz Field.

The Panthers (6-3) collected 16 hits on the afternoon, with 11 coming in the nightcap, to register 2-1 and 6-0 non-conference victories over the visiting Cougars.

"We started off a bit sluggishly in the first game, but we didn't give up," Eastern head coach Deanna D'Abbraccio said.

"We eventually started hitting very well, especially in the second game and just beat them. It was great for us to take two games," she continued.

The Cougars scored their only run in the opener, when freshman Stacey Pritchard belted a home run off Panther pitcher Donna Ridgway in the second inning.

In what D'Abbraccio termed a "fantastic finish," Eastern rallied back with two runs in the seventh inning to notch the victory.

Eastern junior Kathy Trnka led off the seventh frame with a single and later crossed the plate on a single by Ridgway for the Panthers' first run.

Junior Fran Stalter reached base on an error and advanced to third on a single by Ridgway. Moments later, junior Sharon Cizek drove in Stalter with what proved to be all Eastern needed in the opener.

Ridgway held on to notch the victory and lift her record to 2-1.

It was all pitching for Eastern in the nightcap as Kathy Richards (3-1) pitched a two-hitter against the Cougars.

Eastern scored all six of its runs in the first three innings, including two in the first, one in the second, and three in the third.

"I think the fantastic finish of the first game really helped us in the second game," D'Abbraccio said. "We were fired up and just went out and played real well."

Johnson projects small profit despite $3,505 athletic loss

by John Humenik

Although Eastern's Athletic Department projected a $3,505 loss in its fiscal year 1984 budget, Athletic Director R.C. Johnson said he anticipates a "small profit" from Panther Club funding.

Johnson's projected $638,345 budget is expected Tuesday to gain the approval of Eastern's Intercollegiate Athletic Board.

"We were very conservative in projecting our income, and we have been realistic," Johnson said. "But the Panther Club is the thing that has got to grow for us in the future."

Even though Eastern's Panther Club is expected to raise more than $200,000 total in gifts and money, Johnson said he budgeted the club's income conservatively.

The Panther club raised a total of $202,103 last year. Next year, Johnson said, Panther Club income and gate receipts will represent 32 percent of Eastern's athletic department income.

Johnson said he budgeted a $3,995 Panther Club increase, while projecting income losses of $5,000 and $2,500 in Eastern summer sports camps and guarantees respectively.

He explained he expects a loss in sports camps revenue because many parents cannot afford to send their children to summer camps. In addition, the guarantees loss was projected because Eastern will not receive as much income as last year for its road dates.

Johnson also said he did not expect an increase in revenue from Eastern's student fees mainly because of the projected decline in student enrollment for next year.

Eastern's athletic department relies on $331,000 of its proposed $638,354 budget, or 52 percent of its income, from student fees.

Johnson said he budgeted Eastern student fee funding the same as last year as "a safe assumption." The athletic department currently receives $60 from each student enrolled, Johnson said.

"We've tried to determine our income then make our expenses," Johnson said. "We believe we have to be realistic with our income first."

"Some schools project their expenditures first and then hope they have the income," Johnson added. "We don't do that. We don't have that much money to work with."

Consequently, Johnson said, he froze all men's sports operational budgets in addition to projecting the same income from program sales ($2,500), gate receipts ($120,000), concessions ($35,000) and miscellaneous costs ($15,000).

However, Eastern's women's sports programs will receive a $3,195 increase in operational costs to boost the total sports budget to $437,254.

The 1982 elimination of badminton left Johnson with $4,400, while a $2,005 operational cut from field hockey next year will give the athletic department more flexibility in funding women's sports.

Eastern's women's national travel will sport a $3,200 increase—from $1,800 last year to $5,000 for FY 84.

Women's basketball will increase from $25,000 to $26,400 and softball will gain $2,000 to lift its budget to $15,000.

In addition, women's track moves from $12,000 to $13,000 and volleyball gained $2,000, moving to $16,000.

Football remains Eastern's most heavily budgeted men's sport with a $163,000 budget for operational costs: Basketball ($85,000), baseball ($17,800), track ($16,765) and wrestling ($14,800) round out Eastern's top men's expenditures.

Eastern also pays out $1,050 in conference assessments, $31,000 in football and basketball guarantees, $18,000 in support groups, and $10,000 in debt retirement.

Eastern's debt retirement is set aside to make up for a $100,000 deficit in the athletic department which occurred before 1981. Johnson said Eastern has paid one-third of the debt.

Panthers look to beat rain, Illinois

"Yeah, if it doesn't snow or if we're not hit by a heatwave it looks like we might be able to get some games in."—Eastern baseball coach Tom McDevitt.

by Mike Lynch

After having six of eight scheduled games canceled last week, Eastern's baseball team (7-5) is suffering from lack of playing time, head coach Tom McDevitt said Monday.

"The weather has hurt us bad. It especially hurt our freshmen pitchers," McDevitt said. "With the games we had scheduled our freshmen would have had time to pitch, but the weather is reducing that time."

Although McDevitt has joked about the weather, the Panther mentor said he sees little humor in the fact that 14 of his team's first 26 games have been washed out.

The Panthers enter Tuesday's game against the University of Illinois (14-10) in Champaign with one date under their belts since returning from their spring road trip April 4.

Eastern split a double-header with Illinois State in its last contest April 7. Meanwhile, the Illini have played 24 games which will provide an edge over the Panthers Tuesday.

McDevitt chose not to name his starting pitcher for Tuesday's single game with Illinois, but did select three possible starters.

McDevitt said he will decide between seniors Marshall Crutcher (1-1) and Bill Morton (3-0) or

Morton leads Eastern with a 3.71 earned run average, while Crutcher follows with a 3.73 mark. Steinkamp has not recorded a decision, but holds a 4.19 ERA.

However, sophomore Mick Freed, who is a possible starter for Wednesday's home double-header with Indiana State leads Eastern with a 2.02 ERA.

McDevitt said whichever pitcher he selects Tuesday, his team will have to play some of its home games to defeat the Illini who are ranked 27th in the nation.

"They're a good ball team. They're going to hit the ball and they run well," McDevitt said. "They're a better team than their record shows by quite a bit."

Offensively, Illinois boasts four starters with batting averages above .400. Leading the Illini is first baseman Tim Richardson (.439), catcher Gary Iavaroni (.436), outfielder Doug Jones (.433) and third baseman Jim Orsag (.426).

In addition, outfielder Gary Borg paces Illinois with 24 runs batted in, while Jones, Iavaroni, and outfielder Ken Warmbier are tied for the club home run lead with three each.

Statistically, Eastern confronts Illinois with a batting average of .279 and are paced by five players who are hitting over .300.

Second baseman Steve Hall leads Eastern with a .405 batting average and is the lone Panther hitting over the .400 mark.
